

How to Check if a Photo Is Edited or Fake

1	Check the light. All parts of the photo should have the same type of light.
2	Look at reflections. Fake images often miss correct reflections in mirrors or windows.
3	Check the size of objects. If something looks too big or too small, it may be edited.
4	Search the photo online. Reverse image search can show the real place or date.
5	Look for strange colors. If colors look too bright, it may be edited.
